Additional .05 Tax Will Boost Postwar Fund

After making two important changes, one of which boosted the city tax rate .05, the Redwood City Council last week accepted the preliminary budget submitted by City Mgr. Robert Mead calling for requirements of $339,709.72 (plus approximately $8300) for the fiscal year, 1944-45.

At the suggestion of Councilman C. C. Armstrong and the final motion of Councilman Harold Anderson, the council unanimously upped the tax rate from $1.3814 as provided in the preliminary budget to $1.4314, providing an additional $8300 for the postwar fund.

Last year, $25,000 was set aside for postwar development of Redwood City but this year, the preliminary provided for but $15,000.

"Let us not be one of the cities in the background," Councilman Anderson keynoted the arguments for the additioal levy.

The second important change was the provision of an equipment purchase fund created by shifting $10,000 from the revolving fund, totaling $40,000 before the change was made at the motion of Councilman Evans Fletcher.

This change was again suggested by Councilman Armstrong who stated that by not including an allowance for depreciation, the city was heading for trouble. Armstrong pointed out for an example the possibility that the fire department might sometime in the future, need a complete equipment changeover involving $40,000 or $50,000.

"There would be no alternative but to provide for a bond issue to meet this need—unless it is provided for by a special fund," Armstrong stated.

In making the motion, Councilman Fletcher provided permission for the city manager to talk with the auditors and provide for carrying the depreciation fund properly.

Also brought under discussion by Councilman Floyd D. Granger was the $720 in salary increases for the city library dept.

It was explained by City Manager Mead that the library dept. did not come under the salary ordinances of 1942 and 1943 but pay increases were authorized by an ordinance in 1941 which provided for a minimum and maximum.

Mead stated that the council had opposed a "blanket" raise for this department but that he (Mead) had discussed the matter with the library board and learned that the raises merely provided adjustments in certain classifications.

Although no definite action was taken on the matter, Granger intimated that he would again bring the subject up at the time the council adopted this year's salary ordinance.

"I still maintain that the library dept. should be the same as the rest of the departments," Granger stated.

Also taken under consideration was a proposal by Councilman George W. McNulty that the city provide for paying back money due to the water dept.

City Manager Mead stated that $7500 had been paid back out of the 1942-43 budget but that he was not sure of the unpaid balance.

Councilman Anderson made a motion that the city take money from the unbudgeted reserve and pay back one-half of the balance due but later withdrew his motion after Mead suggested that the exact amount of the balance be determined first.

At the motion of Councilman Anderson and seconded by Councilman McNulty, the council then accepted the preliminary budget with changes shown in the minutes of the meeting. (In the absence of City Clerk Ralph Dodge, Mrs. Mead was appointed as acting clerk.)

Although the preliminary budget provided for a net decrease in requirements of $7145.28, the additional sum for the postwar development fund provided by motion is expected to increase the total requirements approximately $1000 over the budget requirements of the preceding year. A decrease of $19,073.36 in the special purpose requirements permitted the budget to remain about the same (8951.74) in spite of increases in departmental and general requirements, in requirements for retirement of bonds ($2417.37) and in library requirements $(558.-97).

The tax rate is based upon an assessed valuation of $17,339,276.00.

It is proposed that funds will be made available to meet budget requirements as follows:

Cash balance, July 1, 1944, estimated	$ 11,601.35
Estimated revenue from sources other than taxes	88,577.50
Estimated tax levy	239,530.87

Cotton Appoints Attorney for Perry

Superior Court Judge A. R. Cotton early last week appointed J. A. Branson of San Mateo as attorney for Walter J. Perry, 32-year-old Menlo Park gravedigger accused of mutilation and disinterment of a body. Perry's case was continued two weeks.

Cole M. Madison, 18-year-old Mountain View youth who holds a medical discharge from the navy, and who is charged with the same crime as Perry, was arraigned yesterday. His case was continued two weeks to plead.

Yeng Chuck, young Chinese student, gave an address on the significance of Memorial Day and Dan Sagehorn, commissioner of welfare, delivered a reading, "Orders of Logan." Paul Gormly recited the Gettysburg Address, following which a picture, "The Perfect Tribute," dealing with the life of Abraham Lincoln, was shown

The assembly closed with the retiring of the colors.

Blaze Destroys M.P. Car, Garage

A fire, believed to have been started by children playing with matches, last week destroyed the car and garage of Melvin Rennert, 850 Partridge Ave., Menlo Park, the Menlo Park Fire Dept. reported this morning.

The blaze flared up at 12:15 p.m. and had done an estimated $1000 damage before the firemen were called to extinguish it. The car, a 1936 Chevrolet was completely destroyed and the garage leveled by the fire.

The Menlo Park firemen were called out to a grass fire on Patricia Dr. at 1:15 p.m. but the fire did no damage.

Major Haas Missing In Romania

Relatives of Maj. Chester R. Haas, 27, Sequoia High School graduate, have received word from the War Department that the officer is missing in action.

The telegram to his wife, the former Eloise Hall of Santa Maria, said that Major Haas has been missing in Romania since May 5. Major Haas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haas, who resided for 18 years at

MAJ. CHESTER R. HAAS

1020 Clinton St., but recently moved to San Francisco. He is the brother of Mrs. Orrin Huribut, 1360 Cordilleras Ave., San Carlos.

Major Haas graduated from Sequoia in 1934. He was active in sports, particularly basketball. He attended San Mateo Junior College for two years and was employed by Standard Stations Inc. prior to entering the armed services.

He joined the army air corp May 13, 1940, and graduated from Lowry Field, Colo., as a bombardier on Mar. 15, 1941. He saw service at numerous air fields, earning a promotion to first lieutenant on Feb. 1, 1942. A year later he was promoted to captain and Jan. 3 of this year to the rank of major. He has held positions as group bombardier, camouflage officer and staff bombardier.

Grant Asks Board To Provide for Bridge

County Engineer M. A. Grant last week requested the County Board of Supervisors to order formation of a Cuesta La Honda Road Maintenance Dist. in order to provide money for a bridge across La Honda Creek at the entrance to Cuesta La Honda.

The bridge was washed out three years ago and at that time there was no way to assess the property owners, Grant pointed out. Since that time, however, legislation has been enacted making it possible to levy a road tax. Grant asked the supervisors to impose a tax of 40 cents on each $100 of assessable property in the district.

The matter was put on the agenda for June 6.

City Denies Party Permit To R.C. Union

The city council last week denied a permit to the United Automobile Workers (CIO) of the National Motor Bearing Co. to stage a benefit whist and bunk-o party on Sunday evening, June 4. The permit was denied on a 4-3 vote after a heated debate between the councilmen.

The councilmen opposing stated that "what's fair for one is fair for all" and pointed out that on all occasions in the past, such applications for permits have been denied.

Councilmen for the permit argued that the group had pointed out that Sunday evening was the only time that the "swing shift" could attend the party and it was only for this reason that they were asking for Sunday. Councilman Anderson in making a motion to grant the permit inserted in his motion that the union was to be informed that the permit was only granted as a wartime policy and was not to be taken as a precedent for action on future applications.

Voting was as follows:

Anderson—yes.
Armstrong—no.
Britschgi—yes.
Fletcher—yes.
Granger—no.
McNulty—no.
Hilton—no.

In other business following the acceptance of the preliminary city budget the council:

1. Accepted $71.43 as payment for delinquent taxes on Lot 1, Block 7, Lenoit from Mrs. C. L. Blare, 44 Holloway Ave., San Francisco.
2. Accepted an invitation from the Redwood City Community Commission to hear the commission's finding on the night of June 6. The invitation was extended by Doris Dean, chairman of the commission.
3. Instructed the city attorney to draw up a letter to be submitted to Assemblyman Harrison Call and Sen. Harry Parkman, indorsing the bill to be submitted at the special session of the state legislature, calling for an appropriation of five to six million dollars to cities for postwar plans and specifications.

Florence I. Enos has sold her residence in Lindenwood, Atherton, to Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Day for $25,000, stamps indicate. Both deeds were recorded at request of California Pacific Title & Trust Co.

Scouts Ready for Camp Opening

As scores of excited scouts in every community in the county are making preparation for the opening of Camp Pescadero for the first session from June 25 to July 9, Camp Director Edward A. Barrer stated that the entire camp staff has been completed with veteran counselors again in attendance.

The water-front activities will be under the supervision of Chet Wilson with a large contingent of qualified Red Cross life guards. Barrer has announced the appointment of Frank Ledato as assistant camp director for the 1944 camp season. Frank is the commander of the national Eagle Scout organization, Knights of Dunamis and has been prominently identified with scouting activities in the county.

Uniforms and articles of camp equipment including baseballs and bats are urgently requested for the use of scouts attending the summer camps. Chmn. John Linden of the camping committee pointed out in a statement today to all troops that scouts can do a "real good turn" by turning in to scout headquarters all used or outgrown uniforms for placement with worthy scouts in need of such equipment.

Crane Strikes, Kills M.P. Man

MENLO PARK—Allan Ekholm, of Menlo Park, was instantly killed at the Western Pipe and Steel war plant last week when the large ship crane being used in assembling the ship on which he was working as a welder failed, according to company officials.

Ekholm was standing by the crane when its boom's supporting cable broke, causing the load to shift and the boom to snap. It flew through the air, striking Mr. Ekholm in the head. He was pronounced dead upon arrival at a South San Francisco hospital at 9:30 a.m.—five minutes after the accident.

Mr. Ekholm, 34, was a native of Palo Alto. He resided at 1202 Johnson St., Menlo Park, with his wife, Virginia, and mother, Mrs. Anna Ekholm. He also leaves a brother, Pvt. Einar Ekholm, with the army in China, and three sisters, Mrs. David Parker, and Mrs. Jane Ackerman, of Menlo Park, and Mrs. Norris Nelson, of South San Francisco.

He was affiliated with the Boilermakers Union.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Tinney's Funeral Home.

Wards Famous Super Quality

. . . SAVE 2 WAYS WITH WARDS SUPER

House Paint

Single Gallon 3.35

3.25 Gallon in 5's

- Gallon covers 400-450 sq. ft., 2 coats!
- Super "cleans itself," stays lovely!
- You can't buy better, at any price!

1 YOU SAVE ON THE COST PER GALLON!

Super is top-quality, at a money-saving price. In impartial laboratory tests with the top grades of the 6 best-known nationally advertised house paints (ALL HIGHER IN PRICE) Super proved:—It HIDES BETTER (because of more Titanium Dioxide); GOES FARTHER (gallon covers 600-900 sq. ft., one coat); and LASTS LONGER (because it contains a more expensive Linseed Oil).

2 YOU SAVE ON THE "COST PER YEAR!"

In the average house paint job, only one-third of the cost is the paint itself; the other two-thirds is the labor. This labor cost is the same for a low-grade house paint (that will need repainting in a year or two) as it is for a LONG-LASTING top-grade paint like SUPER. That's why the longest lasting paint you can buy will cost you the least per year. So PAINT WITH WARDS SUPER . . . and SAVE!

COMMUTERS: No Halfway On Gambling, Says Caboose

BY JOE CABOOSE

We have been asked to comment on the gambling situation in San Mateo County. That, like politics (and maybe you think it isn't), is out of our line. We never gambled but once in our life. And since our marriage turned out all right, why tempt fate further

★ ★ ★

There is one observation that may be appropriate. And this is said without any blue-nose bias. Why get excited about gambling when the county openly displays one of the largest gambling concessions in the world . . . the Bay Meadows race track, where you can lose it just as fast as at some hide-away dice table

★ ★ ★

The fact that betting on the galloping bangtails is legal and betting on the galloping dominoes is not, makes no fundamental difference to people who gamble. Whether it's horses, cards, dice or slot machines, is a matter of individual preference. It's all gambling. And the idea of trying to get people to feel that one form is sinful and another form is not, simply because one is legalized, is just a little bit silly, to say the least.

This gambling situation reminds us of what Lincoln said about the nation: "We can't remain united half slave and half free," or words to that effect. And we're not going to solve any gambling problem in the county by having half of it legalized and the other half outlawed. If it is immoral to chuck it down a slot machine, it is equally immoral to place it on a bangtail's nose. Why get excited about anything as simple as that?

Tomorrow is Memorial Day. An old, old holiday, but this year a day of new significance to the American people. Our honored dead lie in cemeteries all over the world. This erstwhile national holiday has become truly international. May the lands where our heroes have died be worthy of their sacrifice, and above all, may our own America remain worthy!

On Memorial Day the flag should be displayed at half-mast until noon only, and then hoisted to the top of the staff. We have been reading about "flag etiquette," and the history of Old Glory and other early American flags. It is very interesting. Did you know that for nearly a quarter of a century—from 1795 to 1818—the official U. S. flag had 15 stripes? Originally it had 13 stars and 13 stripes. On Apr. 4, 1818, after two stripes as well as two stars had been added for the states of Vermont and Kentucky, Congress passed a law returning the flag to its original design of 13 stripes and providing that a new star be added for each new state admitted to the Union.

Congratulations to the women of the American Legion Auxiliary, and their helpers, for the pleasant and efficient manner in which they handled the sale of veterans' poppies. They were so charming at the depot Friday morning that a certain tightwad commuter threw away the old poppy he has been using over and over since 1937, and bought a new one. Another commuter, with a hangover, demanded a bud, instead of a wide-open poppy, so it would last longer.

A note from Red Morton said members of the Peninsula Celebration Assn. will hold a special meeting Thursday, June 1, in the basement of the old library to discuss plans for a "good old-fashioned Fourth of July picnic" to be held at the foot of Broadway near Chestnut St. Redwood City made history with one such event. But that was prior to the war. Maybe it can be done just as well now. That's what the boys will have to decide, at their meeting Thursday night.

★ ★ ★

What's become of those pet postwar projects for Redwood City? Let's keep talking them up so we don't forget them. Two that the Commuters Club are vitally interested in are grade-crossing separation and a general hospital for Redwood City. It's not a bit too early to start their planning? How about it Mr. Chamber of Commerce, and others?

Our best laugh of the week came from a little shipping publication called the "Binnacle" and edited by the cadets of the California State Maritime Academy, to-wit:

"I can't marry him, mother! He's an atheist. He says he doesn't believe there is a hell."

"Marry him, my dear, and between us we'll try to convince him he's wrong."

Commandos' Paper Drive Above Goal

A huge pile of waste paper, well over six feet high at the R & R Service Station, 950 Main St., estimated at between 40 and 50 tons, testified Monday to the success of the Junior Commandos in their "Battle of the Newspapers and Magazines."

Sam Ratliff, co-chairman of the Junior Commando drive sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, said that because it was only expected that 15 tons would be turned in, it had been necessary to continue collections on Sunday.

The "Ace Commando" of the battle was Richard Buell, 1905 Hopkins Ave., who turned in 94 well-tied bundles for 31 units of credit. He has already received his sergeants' stripes and will receive a service ribbon with four stars for the 20 units of credit earned "over and above the call of duty."

Redwood City Commandos lived up to their name, Ratliff said today. In comparison with the City of Pasadena which has over 100,000 commandos, who collected 150,000 pounds, Redwood City with only 428 turned in somewhere between 80,000 and 100,000 pounds.

Also co-operating in the battle, with the Junior Commandos and members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce were principals and teachers of the McKinley, Lincoln, John Gill, Washington, Garfield, Central and Mt. Carmel Schools.

The next battle will be for coat hangers and waste greases some time within the next two or three weeks. All Junior Commandos will be notified by mail, Ratliff said.

Holiday Death Toll Totals 323

A four-day Memorial Day holiday, bringing the season's first heavy traffic to the country's highways and drawing thousands to Summer's outing places, resulted in at least 323 violent deaths, an Associated Press survey disclosed Wednesday.

With mid-summer temperatures throughout the nation over the holiday period, beaches, fishing resorts and sailing courses were the mecca of thousands and the number of drownings climbed to almost 100, equalling the total number of traffic fatalities.

The toll on the highways for the four days was far below the National Safety Council's estimate of 250, latest figures showing 98 persons lost their lives in traffic mishaps, with a similar number of drowning reported. Other violent deaths totaled at least 127, including airplane crashes, which numbered 25 in California and 10 in Tennessee, shootings, fires, stabbings, electrocution, and other mishaps.

The violent death toll surpassed by almost 100 the 1943 total of 239 deaths for the three-day holiday last year but was below the average peacetime Memorial Day count of 400 deaths. The safety council's estimate of 250 traffic fatalities was for a corresponding four-day period in May.

California, with 42 deaths by violence, led the nation. In addition to the 25 persons killed in plane crashes, there were eight traffic fatalities, six drownings, and one death each by shooting, electrocution and tractor accident. New York's 24 total ranked second largest, while Illinois reported 21. Twelve states did not report a single violent death.

Sailors Face Charge Of Assault on SP

Two sailors, Ditold S. Olechno and Robert P. Brown, were picked up by Redwood City police early last week and held on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon after they allegedly attacked a shore patrolman.

The pair was apprehended by the police on Main St. when they jumped a navy shore patrolman whose name was given as B. T. Fawcett. Both men are with the U. S. Coast Guard and are being held in the city jail pending their release to the coast guard authorities.

Probation Committee Chairman Works on Plan for New Home

County Executive Frederick Peterson Wednesday offered Joseph Leo Hyman, chairman of the County Probation Committee, any assistance he can give to improve conditions at the county juvenile home.

Peterson and Hyman this morning discussed the need for a new juvenile home and looked into the possibility of getting an adequate home for juveniles.

The present home in Redwood City, a former jail, does not meet the requirements, it was pointed out. It is overcrowded and does not have room for recreation and other forms of exercise.

Most prominent site mentioned for a new home, Peterson said, is on county property adjacent to the County Relief Home. The county owns 110 acres there, Peterson said. The site previously has been favored by Adrian Ward, superintendent of the social welfare department which has charge of operation of the juvenile home.

Peterson said that whatever site is selected it will be where there will be plenty of ground for recreation and farming.

"It will be a country home," he said.

Ray Stone To Attend Horsemen's Meeting

Ray Stone, president of the California State Horsemen's Assn., will attend the meeting of the San Mateo County Horsemen's Assn. to be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Laurel Hall, San Carlos.

GARDEN: Edible Pod Peas Are More Productive

You should have tasted those edible pod peas the children out our way picked, cooked and served last week. Tender, flavorable and especially sweet for the boys who had planted them! Incidently, while the pods are very tender, they are seamed on both edges with strings which are plenty tough. These should be removed for full enjoyment.

Edible pod peas are so much more productive—per square foot. The boys picked exactly three pounds from a double row 10 feet long. Three pounds of regular garden peas would mean little more than a pound after shelling. What's more, the vines were covered with more lavender-purple blossoms, showing that the total yield will be about in the class with snap beans.

By the way, if you happen to be writing in any way, please mention the Chantes carrot — let us know how they're doing. The variety is doing well in the few gardens I've visited lately. The boys picked some last week which were planted just after the offer was made earlier this Spring. Good color, good flavor and satisfactory growth. They were already better than five inches long.

FOR CATS' SAKE! Writes R. A. Smith: "Some time ago our friend, the cat, was condemned for killing birds. A little belatedly I come not only to defend, but to praise him. He does kill a few birds to be sure; but he doesn't kill them for mere sport, and he doesn't leave some of them wounded to flutter away and die in misery.

"And now may I ask a few questions? Does the defendant eat up your newly sprouted peas and lettuce when the whole landscape is verdant with other succulent vegetation? Does he pilfer grain from the chickens? Does he get up before dawn to beat you to the first ripe berries? Does he spoil your plums and cherries by taking a bite or two and leaving the rest to rot? Does he spy out the land for choice loot and then call in a flock of his marauding kin to assist in pillage? And we don't accuse him of crime when he rids our premisues of rats and mice and gophers.

"Oh yes, a good deal can be said for the defendant. Besides, if the birds in question were a little bigger, we would doubtless kill and eat them ourselves."—So there's the case for cats. Personally, I bear no grudge against cats—but drat their kittens!

When your beans come through the ground and develop small first leaves it may be charged to cool weather sometimes, but more likely to a poor mechanical condition of the soil needs fertilizer, the beans the soil need sfertilizer, the beans should have enough strength within the seeds to form good big leaves. Proof of this lies in planting bean seeds in moist cotton above a bottle. The roots get nothing stronger than water, but they develop for awhile on the stored energy.

Again, the trouble may be in old seeds. Although seeds may be viable for several years, they often lose vigor after the first year or two, and get off to a poor start. This doesn't apply, however, to cucumber seeds, which apparently do better when from three of five years old.

As for the strawberries which don't size up to expectations. There are several things to check. The runners should be cut back repeatedly while the berry season is on. Runners sap the strength from the mother plant.

Strawberries need a good supply of available plant food and small berries will result from a deficiency. While a manure mulch is helpful to protect the roots from temperature changes, additional plantfood, one containing nitrogen, phosphates and potash, should be added.

The plants should be kept clean of dead stems and leaves, and a careful inspection may show ants in the bed. The regular multi-purpose spray won't be enough to stop the ants. Plant ant poison containers in the bed.

And don't cultivate deeply around strawberry plants. Just scratch the surface enough to keep down the weeds and prevent top soil cake or crust.

Check these points, and then hope for several weeks of warm weather. Have at 'em. You can grow good strawberries!

Sequoians Plan Postwar

Sequoia High School students will emulate their elders and do a little postwar planning of their own on the fourth of their series of radio programs to be presented over KQW at 1:30 tomorrow afternoon.

Under the title "This Living World," the authors of the skit have outlined what they would like to have in Redwood City after the war. The ideas range from zoning laws, housing, recreation and the control of disease with a basic principle of co-operation of all the residents in the city. They also point out what Sequoia is doing to prepare better citizens to undertake this task.

Barbara Lee Smith is chairman of the program which will feature A. C. Argo, superintendent of the high school, as the guest speaker. Others appearing on the show are Barbara Cornwell, Nona McGinn, Lorelee Moore, Elise Schultz, Tillie Trager, Charles Day, Rod Harvey and Rose Pastorino.

Mysterious Blaze at Sequoia Hotel; Fire Chief Ryan Starts Investigation

Fire Chief Mark Ryan last week was investigating a fire of undetermined origin that broke out at the Sequoia Hotel at 1:05 Thursday morning, arousing guests and calling out four engines from the Redwood City Fire Dept.

The fire, burning in a barrel of old linen and papers stored in a vacant room, was discovered by police officers T. N. Moudakas and Robert West as they were making their nightly rounds. The officers aroused the guests and turned in the alarm.

Ten of the city's firemen rushed to the scene and four engines were dispatched. The blaze was quickly extinguished with little damage to the linens and old furniture that was stored in the room. Damage to the room and its contents is estimated at $50.

The fire department today said that they had not as yet been able to determine the cause of the fire but that Chief Ryan was making a thorough investigation to discover whether or not the fire might have been set by a fire bug.

Fire Warden Reports 2000 Acres Of Wild Rhodendrons in County

Tucked away in a remote, inaccessible corner of San Mateo County is one of California's most luxuriant wild flower shows, 2000 acres of wild pink rhododendrons.

County Fire Warden Bert L. Werder Wednesday told the story of these flowers in what he believed is the only stand of wild rhododendrons in this part of the state.

They grow over three square miles of country once sought for a state park—the Butano. The flowered area starts on the Butano Ridge south of Memorial Park and extends southward to the Little Butano Creek. The area is east of the Cloverdale Rd. and is in a general southeasterly direction from the Coastside town of Pescadero.

The only road into the area is a county fire trail, barred by a locked gate. The only persons who have seen the wild rhododendrons are occasional hikers and some interested botanists, including the late John McLaren, wizard of Golden Gate Park, who hiked into the area four years ago.

Wild azaleas are comparatively common in Northern California, but the wild rhododendron is a rarity, Werder said.

He brought a cluster of the colorful blooms to the Tribune office where they are on display.

Sheriff Searches for Torso Reported Floating in Bay

Reports or Saturday afternoon that a torso had been seen floating on the San Mateo County side of the bay near the Dumbarton Bridge sent searchers to the vicinity over the week end to no avail.

A trainman first reported that he had seen a body floating in the bay near the pilings of the railroad bridge while the train was crossing the bay, the sheriff's office said. Three Sea Scouts from Redwood city whose names were not learned reported to Mark Nesbit, harbor master at Palo Alto Yacht Harbor, that they saw a nude torso, floating near the highway bridge.

A coast guard plane flew over the area Saturday afternoon and Dep. Sheriff Milton Minehan searched the vicinity. Minehan and Dep. Sheriff Jack O'Brien searched again yesterday and four navy blimps flew over the area yesterday morning and two blimps in the afternoon to no avail. Yachtsmen also enterd the search.

No clue as to whose body it might be has been found, it was reported at the sheriff's office.

Butler Attends Rehabilitation Meet

Alleviation of the growing problem of rehabilitation of veterans and the co-ordination of the several agencies existing at present was the purpose of the organizational meeting of the San Mateo County Veteran's Employment Council, called by the U. S. Employment Service of the War Manpower Commission in San Mateo last week.

E. W. (Ned) Butler, manager of the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce represented the chamber at the meeting which was held at the Old City Hall in San Mateo.

With more than 5000 service men returning to civilian life in California every month, the War Manpower Commission is attempting to co-ordinate the activities of the various groups formed to plan for veterans rehabilitation.

The estate consists of cash, personal property, stocks and real property in Los Angeles and Woodside.

Hendry left $95,000 in specific bequests to colleges and charities. Bulk of his estate was left to his widow, Vera C. Thiebaut, who had quit his training at the seminary after Pearl Harbor to join the navy, was home after receiving an honorable discharge for wounds received in action in the South Pacific. His father, Louis Thiebaut, who found the body, said that his son had been despondent over his present 4-F status and had taken jests concerning the matter as a personal rebuff. The former sailor was an employe of the Rincon Annex Post Office in San Francisco.

Tribune Reporter Studies Conditions in County Juvenile Home

(Editor's Note: Below is a first-hand report on the conditions in the County Juvenile Home as seen by a Tribune reporter in a tour of the home following charges by parents of poor conditions and the proposal of a new juvenile home by several county officials.)

BY PHIL VON HERBERG

Deficiencies in the Juvenile Home Tuesday were blamed by Adrian Ward, superintendent of the Juvenile Home, on the wartime shortage of help.

He emphasized that the home is not a corrective institution, but merely one in which juvenile delinquents are housed while awaiting disposition of their cases.

Because they have been shorthanded since January, it has been impossible to give the children such ordinary privileges as playing outside or even ping pong inside the home more often than in the evenings, as in the case of the boys, when they can have someone to supervise their recreation.

"These children are mostly delinquents and have to be watched or they would simply walk out," Mrs. F. Blomquist, the immaculately white-aproned elderly matron of the home explained.

"As it is, they mark up the walls and knock out the plaster. Of course," she added, "they have nothing else much to do when it is necessary to confine them in this manner."

She explained by pointing out a narrow cell-like room furnished with two rumpled looking cots. There was no chair, no rug. A rack held several soiled towels and a metal cup. The business end of a broken toothbrush lay on the window sill.

Three boys, aged somewhere between 9 and 17, were sprawled over on one of the beds playing cards. Another, with a chess set resting on the already occupied bed, knelt in front only because there was no more room on the bed.

A padlock on the outside, metal lined on the inner surface, even the glass peephole of the door was barred. Barred windows overlooked a lawn made cheerful by a profusion of flowers blooming in neat beds.

All this was a constant reminder of their confinement to the children huddled in the narrow room, with its dirty, white walls, plaster so cracked and chipped that the framework of the building showed through in several places.

"These boys were not locked in," she said. "However, they are under orders to stay here. Some of the less incorrigible ones are even allowed the run of the house."

Yet, the door to each room carried its own padlock which had evidently been put on some time after the home had ceased to be used as a jail. Condition of the walls in the building was explained in that the building was old and in need of repairs which would be taken care of in the new budget for the coming fiscal year.

Yet, it had been necessary to unlock one of the doors to the cell in which a single boy was confined on our tour. This boy, according to a later statement by the matron, was of a different type. He was a high school boy from a nearby town. She implied that he was not the type from wnich further trouble was expected, yet, he was under lock and key.

His room was the same as the others. The same small cell with the padlocked door and barred windows. The same soiled towels and kitchenware cup. He sat uncomfortably on one leg on the bed trying to read a book. Behind him on the wall was a drawing which he had done himself in a pitiful effort to erase the forbidding aspects of the chill walls.

In all of the rooms, pictures had been clipped out of magazines and pasted on the walls in an attempt to relieve their bareness. The pictures, for the most part, were of the usual pin-up type of scantilly clad bathing girls or screen lovers locked in embrace.

The girls are confined in another part of the building. Their rooms held the same few furnishings, the enamel-ware cup, rumpled linen and the walls were of the same soiled, chipped plaster through which the framework of the building showed.

They, however, were not so confined for the most part as the boys. As I left, I glanced into the kitchen to see one little girl helping the assistant housekeeper, Mrs. Cecilia Sterling, to dry the breakfast dishes.

When questioned further about the plaster, Ward said that the new budget contained an appropriation of approximately $550 for repairs. The plaster on the walls was not old, he explained, but had been too soft. It will be replaced by one more along the lines of cement.

The children, too, will be allowed to play out of doors with all the regulation playground equipment just as soon as a new wire fence is erected. Provision has been made in the new budget for that and the necessary priorities are also forthcoming.

Another helper also will be added to the staff as of June 1, Ward continued. This will fill the position left vacant since January. It has been impossible, he said, to fill this vacancy before due to the shortage of help rather than to any lack of funds.

Their day begins around 8 a.m. the matron, Mrs. F. Blomquist, said. The boys eat first, then the girls. Breakfast is over by 9. From then until noon, those that are able clean their rooms, read, or write letters.

All are confined to their rooms except for exceptional cases, of which the little Deiner boy was one, she said, until lunch at noon.

After lunch, they retire to their rooms. Frank Roach, custodian, comes on at 5:30 p.m. when the boys are allowed some recreation other than that to be found within the four walls of their rooms. They may play ping pong.

Again Ward pointed out the equipment for basketball in the yard and stated that just as soon as the wire fence replaces the aged wooden one there, the boys would be allowed to play out of doors under the proper supervision so that there might be no chance of them "high tailing" it over the fence.

Following dinner, lights are out by 9 o'clock.

The little Diener boy (whose grandmother charged degeneracy in the home), Mrs. Blomquist said, slept in the room occupied by the court when it met on Monday. This room contains a bed besides the judge's desk, approximately 50 folding chairs, a piano, and an old Victrola on which the records are almost inaudible. The collection of records is like the collection of books at the home, old and of a selection which made me wonder who selected them.

Even so, it was vastly more attractive than the other rooms.

Meanwhile, the home with four rooms for the boys and three rooms for the girls, manages to shelter at one time approximately 12 children of assorted ages ranging up to 21.

It is admitted by the officials themselves to be sadly understaffed, but after all, as Mrs. Blomquist, the matron, explains, the home is used only to house children of the community while awaiting disposition of their cases, whether to reformatories, foster homes, or even before returning them to their own home.

There are all sorts of children there naturally, all officials admit, but just exactly what can be done about it other than simply giving them food and shelter, no one seems to know.

Department of Commerce Survey Shows Much Scrap Paper Uncollected

Results of a Department of Commerce survey just released indicate that there are approximately 195,833 pounds of newspapers in Redwood City households.

The survey made as of May 1 before the Junior Commando waste paper drive sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce did not include the 80,000 to 100,000 pounds collected last week.

Sam Ratliff, co-chairman of the Junior Commando drive, said this morning that Junior Commandos would have another chance later on to collect any paper which might have been overlooked or not turned in.

Government survey figures were based on an average of 46.1 pounds of paper per family. Newspapers were estimated at 17.6 pounds, magazines at 20.5 pounds, brown kraft at 5.2 pounds and waste basket paper at 2.8 pounds.

The grand total of uncollected waste paper in the United States was set at 850,000 tons.

Since waste paper has been listed as the number one critical war material, the department urged every citizen to turn in what he had so that the 8,000,000 tons needed this year for essential civilian and military requirements might be fulfilled.

Frank A. De Patta, chairman of the Salvage for Victory Committee, today asked local residents having paper to phone him at RC 201 so that immediate arrangements might be made for its disposal.

William Graske Faces Drunk Driving Charge

William Graske, 49, 18 North Ellsworth, San Mateo, was free from the county jail here today on $50 cash bail following his arrest last week on a charge of drunk driving. The arrest was made by the California Highway Patrol on Bayshore Hwy. near San Mateo. Graske is to appear before Judge Hugh F. Mullin June 2.

COURT MADRONE 158

Aircraft Warning Service Ends Today

The entire civilian volunteer program of the aircraft warning service officially ceased operation today according to an announcement just received from the War Department.

While there has been no civilian aircraft warning station in Redwood City itself, the Redwood City War council has in the past supplied volunteers ready to man other nearby stations such as Belmont, Menlo Park and even Palo Alto.

W. W. Hilton, chairman of the Redwood City Civilian War Council, today stated that the civilian defense organization here was being kept "intact" so that should any emergency arise, it would be able to function.

"Every person and every partnership transacting business . . . under a fictitious firm name . . . not showing the full names of the person interested, or partners in such business . . . must file a certificate stating the name in full and the place of residence of such person or the members of such partnership . . . Such certificate must be published once a week for four successive weeks."

If you have neglected this procedure, the name of your firm is not protected and you are not entitled "to . . . maintain any action upon or on account of any contract or contracts made, or transactions had . . . in any court of this state until the certificate has been filed and the publication has been made as herein required."

"On every change in the members of a partnership transacting business in this state under a fictitious name, or a designation which does not show the names of the persons interested as partner in it business, a new certificate must be filed with the county clerk, and a new publication made as required by this article on the formation of such partnerships."

Take care of this important matter now by having the Redwood City Tribune publish your certificate. Consult any local attorney. The cost is small, and the filing and publication is something which should not be overlooked.
